CAUTION: Sawing or grinding of concrete may result in the release of dust particles containing crystalline silica, which could cause eye or nose irritation. Respirable crystalline silica can cause silicosis and might cause lung cancer. When sawing or grinding operations are in progress, provide for adequate ventilation, dust suppression or other feasible engineering controls to keep silica levels below the PEL (Permissible Exposure Limit). If levels exceed or are likely to exceed the PEL, use a NIOSH-approved respirator with a HEPA filter and tight fitting goggles. A Material Safety Data Sheet is available from your closest MonierLifetile Sales Office.
