Annual Report Filings
P.O. Box 1500

Dear Sirs:

When we received the second notice to file our annual report, we responded immediately, first with a phone call, then with a check and the appropriate paperwork as instructed by your office as a result of the phone call. Now, it seems that these instructions were incorrect as we have received a letter stating we owe an additional $400 for late filing. We realize we filed late in 1998. We firmly believe we did not receive the first filing notice then either, but, due to a move, we decided to "bite the bullet" and pay the late fee as the envelope may have been lost in said move. But this year, we did not receive the initial filing notice. We know of several companies in the same boat as The Car Shop and there letter of explanation was accepted by your office. Why are we being singled out for late payment?

We would appreciate your acceptance of our filing as filed. Obviously, it is not your fault if the notices are not delivered but it is unfair to punish the businessman for this error.

Sincerely,

Robin D. Hanger
President
