11. The following table shows the number of people who reported that they had been involved in a sexual assault in the past 12 months, by age group and gender. The data are based on a survey of 1,000 people aged 18 and over. The survey was conducted by the National Crime Survey of England and Wales, which is a representative sample of the population of England and Wales. The survey was conducted between 2005 and 2006. The data are presented in the following table:
