14. I do not recall that the defendant supplied with the filing a substantially handwritten list of names and ages, but the correspondence dated on or about 11/1/50, from Chicago, Illinois, I believe, reflects that the defendant furnished the Bureau with a significantly handwritten page which, in part, set forth names and ages of persons who had been identified as being capable of providing information on the subject of the case or persons who had been identified as being the subject of investigation. I believe that the defendant did so, and that the Bureau received and took it into consideration in its efforts to identify persons who were capable of providing information on the subject of the case.
